Request Detail:

Please could you send me a copy of the form which was used in Lancashire schools to ask children various questions including ones about their gender. The form was the subject of a front page story in the Daily Telegraph on Monday 11th December 2017.

How many of these forms were sent out, and how many of the completed forms did you receive back?

Response Detail:

The Trust response to your recent FOI response is as follows:

Copies of 2 questionnaires have been attached.

Please note: The questionnaires are not “sent out” but rather completed in the classroom, therefore we can’t answer that specific question. We can, however, confirm the number of questionnaires completed (below) – although not specifically requested we have also included the % of those where the child/young person completed the gender identity question should you find it helpful:

Data from 01.09.2016 – 28.12.17:

23,916 pupils have completed the questionnaire in total and 19,091 answered the gender identity question (80%).
